Target Intervention Project (Injecting Drug Users)

The AVN Pragati Foundation has been working in the urban slums of North West Delhi. Its main focus has been on health & education. Therefore HIV/AIDS has been its main concern now a day is an alarming issue. In India the major source of transmission is through sexual intercourse but being a metropolitans city Delhi has high rate of migration & mobility. HIV/AIDS is one of India's complex epidemic and a challenge that is going beyond public health, rising fundamental issues of human rights and threatening development achievement in many areas. It is not a single epidemic but made up of a number distinct epidemic, Beside CSM and MSM, there is another category of IDU's & the shadow IDU'S.

Women, to build, secure and use social assets to improve their well-being, reduce vulnerabilities, take advantage of new opportunities, exercise their rights and play a more active role in the society

Self Help Group

Livelihood for small and marginal slum and rural people requires timely and affordable credit to cover the variety of input and other costs. Rural moneylenders that dominate the informal credit market readily offer loans to the farmers with little paperwork at a rate of interest as high as 60% per annum. The inability to repay such a loan leads to the beginning of a vicious cycle where the borrowers can even become bonded laborers of the moneylender. In this scenario, a formal and timely source of credit with better terms of repayment has enabled many members to break from the shackles of intergenerational debt bondage. A savings programme enables the poor to extricate themselves from the clutches of usurious moneylenders.

The Women's Self-Help Group (SHG) Programme forms the bedrock of all Trust work.

Most members of these SHGs belong to the marginalized- poor, Adivasi's, Dalits, landless and displaced people. This programme runs in Slums of Delhi. As these disadvantaged women learn to run their own series of nested institutions – SHGs, Cluster Development Associations (of 15-20 SHGs) and Federations (of around 200 SHGs), a completely new dynamic is imparted to the development process in the area. The persistence of endemic poverty and hunger, seven decades after independence, points to the glaring lack of good governance in rural areas. These women's federations of women's SHGs are a key building block for effective empowerment of the poor in the slum of India, giving these regions the necessary voice in the development process. The SHG federations as community institutions are the voice of the people, working in close partnerships with the government, federations and other CSOs.

The SHG programme realizes its full potential when it is tied up with livelihood programmes such as improved agriculture and allied activities, crop marketing, bag production and craft etc. Incomes raised through livelihood initiatives need to be saved. Of these savings, women are the best custodians. It is they who ensure that these savings are, in turn, diligently reinvested in livelihood options that raise incomes, and health and education of the family, setting up a virtuous cycle.

Our SHGs offer their members a range of financial products including regular savings, recurring deposits, fixed deposits, loans against fixed deposits, loans for emergencies (the veracity of each of which is carefully judged by the members themselves), collective purchase of basic needs of daily life, loans for cattle, well construction, cattle insurance, life insurance, etc. As of March 2020, the programme has reached 533 villages and 15 towns having formed 2500 women's SHGs with a total membership of 35000 women.

The SHG programme is based on the principle of cost coverage. SHG operations are streamlined, organised, transparent and efficient. The SHG Programme is the only one of its kind which shares CIBIL data with other financial institutions apart from using it. The unique strength of our SHG programme is financial and procedural discipline and transparency.

Need based assessment to identify Trade:

Most of the IDUs shift from smoking of opium to the injecting of heroin and other drugs. Region wise there could be an individual's involvement in crime, family

Youth Employment One of the core objectives of AVN is to provide access to employment opportunities to the unemployed youths (18 – 35 years) and equip them with necessary technical trainings. Finding jobs in rural areas for the youngsters is challenging due to various reasons, among them (i) lack of opportunities to start businesses (ii) lack of information on potential employment opportunities (iii) social norms and constraints that make it either difficult for youths to leave their villages and seek employment elsewhere or lack of exposure and experience that makes youth reluctant to venture from their villages. In order to address those problems AVN has developed partnerships with the service sector, telecommunications, technology, garments, and agribusiness sectors, and linked with key skill training, vocational and job creation initiatives. AVN has set-up a youth data base that is being maintained.

AVN has also formed youth groups, these groups meet once a week to discuss common problems and identify options to be useful and participate in the local community. Counseling is also provided for the youths and their parents that have the option to obtain a job away from home but may be reluctant to leave. The youth groups also serve as a platform to enroll youth in existing employment programs from the government or other partners.

Monitoring, Evaluation and Learning MEL is an integral part of AVN's internal control mechanism and is used as a management tool to track inputs, outputs, processes and constraints. This unit provides support to AVN's development

After the deep study of the village and Slum of north India. programs, supporting departments. In order to ensure transparency, the unit conducts periodic analysis, enabling the management to determine whether the key activities are being carried out as planned, and whether they are having the expected outcomes. MEL System analyses the strength, weakness, bottlenecks and outcomes of the overall processes of the project activities. The field level monitoring and learning elicits emerging operational issues and bottlenecks at the villages in participation of the community people and resolve the problems. The village level project implementation progress is captured through MIS where Village AVN is the key information source of the village. AVN-MIS is producing key outputs like Project Beneficiaries Information, Key Milestones Monitoring Matrix, Village Matrix, Component-wise Progress Reports etc.

Governance and Accountability AVN has an internal audit team as well as a governance team that oversees governance issues, trains the village social audit committees, assesses functioning of the governance mechanisms on a regular basis, and institutes AVN's recently approved exit policy.

Nutrition Awareness and Support: AVN aims to raise awareness, improve attitudes and practices to accelerate nutritional outcomes for targeted beneficiaries. Increased household income does not necessarily translate into improved nutritional outcomes and therefore can only partially address the under and malnutrition challenges in India. Activities proposed would focus on awareness building, behavioral change for personal hygiene, food preparation, food choices and mainstreaming nutrition sensitive actions, particularly in selected income generating activities of beneficiaries.

The target group for the nutrition related activities comprises largely a sub-set of project beneficiaries that are among the core focus group for nutrition interventions – pregnant and lactating mothers and young children. Behavioral change campaigns and awareness building would be facilitated by AVN using the established community mechanism, while the activities would be outsourced to experienced players/NGOs in the intervention areas.

The project contract with agencies to train community professionals in the project areas and support village nutrition groups that will be formed by project beneficiaries. Areas to be covered under the support would be: (i) improved kitchen gardens; (ii) nutrition practices; and (iii) hand-washing. Additional support would be sought from Government institutions such as clinics and line agencies for continuous community training on nutrition related issues and improved agricultural practices. It is also expected that the recently negotiated Bank project on Income Support for the Poorest would reach out to some of the target group on nutrition.

Livelihood Development AVN is determined to increase livelihood opportunities of poor and hardcore poor by organizing them in producer groups, cooperatives or federations and improving their market and Business orientation and forward and backward linkages in the market systems. Various models of joint actions of small-scale individual producers working as organized producer groups would aim to raise the attractiveness of poor and hardcore poor as market partners, reduce market transaction costs and align their production decisions with business and market opportunities.

These producer organizations would also facilitate services provisions to their members and act as economic entities and business partners in the down- and up-stream value chains and create additional opportunities for added value to their products. Specific objectives would be to: (i) build and strengthen producer organizations as market partners and commercially oriented entities; (ii) organize and align skill development and training in response to the specific labor market requirements; (iii) facilitate interaction between producers and traders/processors of products in the down- and up-stream value chains; and (iv) support market/business oriented investment to solve bottlenecks in the market chains and/or adding value to the products (e.g. poor and hardcore poor capturing a higher share in the value chain).

A total of 515 students, both boys and girls, were enrolled in the program. Under this awareness program, for majority of the students (85%), the source of information about HIV/AIDS was the television. A total of 75.8% students said that it was transmitted from mother to child. It was observed that the knowledge of the school students was quite satisfactory for most of the variables like modes of transmission, including mother-to-child transmission of the disease. However, schools should come forward to design awareness campaigns for the benefit of the students.

Vendors advertise tobacco products around schools,” said Randhir Singh, founder of AVN Pragati Foundation. Randhir said: “Tobacco consumption rate in this dens slum is higher than the other areas of the Uttar Pradesh. Consumption of tobacco and tobacco products by the children is higher because these children are the most vulnerable to such threat mostly due to the environment they are dwelling with.” Stating that all parents should be aware about the harmful effects of tobacco and tobacco products on their children, lack of education and uplift of children in the slums is one of the root causes of this problem.
